

KING EDWARD IS NOW IMPROVING

Late Bulletins Give Hopes of His Recovery in Time.

STILL VERY WEAK

Coronation Date Fixed for October Next, if King Is Strong Enough.

THE NATION PRAYING

London, June 26, 6 p. m.—The six o'clock bulletin reads: "His majesty has passed a good day and has taken nourishment well." He is less weak and his temperature now is normal.

London, June 26.—The two o'clock bulletin reads: "The King's condition still remains satisfactory."

King Looks Better
At one o'clock this afternoon it was announced the satisfactory condition of the King was being maintained. His majesty looks extremely well, considering the awful experience that he has gone through. He was able to see some of the royal family today.

Public Fearful
While reports from official sources are encouraging, the general public is not inclined to feel at all secure. The evening papers today also take rather a pessimistic view and warn the public not to let their optimism be too great for the crisis is yet to come.

Earlier Bulletin
The ten fifteen bulletin says: "His majesty had a better night and some refreshing sleep. He is improved in all respects. His constitutional condition is quite favorable and the state of the wound is also satisfactory." (Signed, Lister, Treves, Smith, Barlow.)

The Duke of Connaught, the King's brother, called at the palace at nine thirty and on leaving said the news regarding the King was most encouraging; pulse and temperature were normal.

Crowned in October
The Evening Sun says today provisional arrangements for the coronation the second week in October are being made. Court officials, however, say it is an idle speculation on the matter of the coronation until the King is out of danger.

Royal Visitors Call
The Prince and Princess of Wales, Prince Henry of Prussia and nearly all of the foreign envoys called at the palace today. As today is more or less of a general holiday, large crowds assembled about the palace to watch the notables come and go.

Desolated Streets
The decorations for the coronation are being torn down and the streets have a disheveled appearance. His majesty's strength and power of resistance has been marvellous.

Prayers Said
Instead of the coronation services intercessory services were held in the churches all over the empire today. In London a great service was held at St. Paul's. At the hour at which the King was to have been crowned a solemn litany was chanted by the same choir that was to have sung at the coronation services.

Still Grave Danger
Doctors still say the danger is by no means over and will not be until the wound healed and the intestines are reunited.

PRAY FOR KING IN CONGRESS

Chaplains of Senate and House Intercede for British Ruler
Washington, D. C., June 26.—A prayer was said yesterday by the Rev. Dr. Conden, chaplain of the house, for the recovery of King Edward. "Hear us," he said, "when we pray for the King of England, Grant, if in accord with Thy will, that he may be restored to strength to guide and control his people in justice and equity under Thy guidance."

The chaplain in his prayer at the opening of the senate's session today invoked "Blessing upon our sister nation, England, which holds, with us, the sacred trust of Christian progress. We remember her tears and prayers for us when our great ruler fell. And now we have Christian sympathy and brotherly concern in this, her hour of sorrow. Bless her king, and give him a happy issue out of his present sickness."

MILWAUKEE PLANS FOR MOTOR RACES

Will Build a Race Track for Motor Cycle Races, and Have Contests.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 26.—(Special.)—An effort is being made here to establish motor paced cycle races on the same plan as in New York and other eastern cities. A number of local cycling enthusiasts, headed by H. O. Messier the track builder, have formed a company for the purpose of building either a ten or a twelve lap track. The location has not been decided upon as yet, although the promoters have a couple of sites under consideration. Orlando Weber, the amateur champion, and Walter Sanger, the former professional star racer, have signified their intention to compete in motor paced races here. Both are local favorites. The promoters have also secured the promises of several of the best racers in the west to compete here, providing the track is built. It is the intention to try and get the track ready for the latter part of July. Motor racing has never been witnessed in Milwaukee and the chances are that the people will take to it from the start.

A. U. championship meet to be held in New York in the near future. The M. A. C. has practically decided to send Merrill east to represent the club, the majority of the committee favoring that policy. Merrill will likely take his trainer, Harry McGill, with him, as he wants to be fit for the championships. The Milwaukee Athletic club is also branching out for more talent. It is probable that Archie Hahn, the crack 100-yard man at Michigan university, will join the Milwaukee club. This would give the M. A. C. a strong trio of athletes in Merrill, Hemmann and Hahn.

POLITICAL FIGHT GOES MERRILY ON

Conservative Republicanism Daily Gains Ground in the State.

FIGHT FIERCELY

La Follette Faction Spare No Means or Methods in Desperate Hopes.

WHITEHEAD AHEAD

The political outlook at present shows that the conservative republicans are gaining strength throughout the whole state, despite the fact that the executive machine is doing all in its power to defeat the true principles of republicanism by rallying democratic forces to its standard. Down in Nebraska there was a fusion convention between the Democrats and Populists, at which the "late" William Jennings Bryan was the predominant element. The convention was yesterday and this morning the papers all over the country contain strong objections to this sort of procedure. Leaders of both Populists and Democrats deplore the fusion of the two parties and still such a fusion continues in Wisconsin and is urged and countenanced by the executive machine. "Fair Minded Democrats" is the appropriate term used.

In Dane
In Dane county the fight is not over yet. Evidence of the voting of any number of Democrats at the Republican caucuses is at hand and in one case an ex-Democratic state senator is said to have been at the caucus and voted and worked for his friend, Robert M. LaFollette.

Rock County Solid
In Rock county the situation remains the same. The dispute over the three votes from the town of Porter has been left in a state of quietism until the county convention. The republican county committee has decided that there was no election and the question will go to on this status until the county convention when it will be decided. The best that the LaFollette faction can hope for is a division of the vote and that means the first assembly district will go for Whitehead by a close but clean majority.

In Edgerton the leaders of the executive machine have openly stated that they have been advised by the heads of their movement that Rock county will have a split delegation at the state convention, this will be decided on a protest that will be brought before the executive committee of the state central committee when credentials are presented.

Eau Claire
In Eau Claire county the mix-up is still the same. The LaFollette men acting on gag rule tried to capture the convention. They elected delegates to the state convention and the conservative element did the same. The conservative element will have the credentials of the regular republican county committee, while the factionists will have to be content with credentials prepared by the chairman and secretary of their "rump" meeting.

Kenosha in Line
Yesterday Kenosha gave Whitehead a decisive victory. They swept all before them and will send a solid delegation of 12 to the state convention. While this was expected, it is a blow to the LaFollette faction, as they have spent time and money in trying to bring about a victory for their section of the party.

Other Counties
At the caucuses held yesterday Burnett county gave LaFollette four votes and while they claim Clark county, the reports from that section today show that the seven votes are much in doubt.

Today Dunn, Racine and Sauk hold their conventions. Racine will give Whitehead and Republicanism a strong endorsement, if present outlook count for anything. Sauk, a LaFollette stronghold will divide its delegation and will give the major share of its 18 votes to true Republicanism. Ten for Whitehead and eight for LaFollette is the figuring. Dunn will go for LaFollette although advices from that county show that LaFollette has been losing ground.

The Vote
At present from all the reports in Whitehead and the conservative element lead in the list of delegates. They have 38 allowing the 15 from Fond du Lac county, half of which are known to be Froelich men. The table is as follows:

	La Follette	Whitehead
Calumet.....	3	2
Dane.....	37	3
Eau Claire.....	15	10
Langlade.....	1	1
Fond du Lac.....	15	10
Franklin.....	6	12
Marathon.....	1	1
Rock.....	1	1
Walworth.....	2	2
Waukesha.....	2	2
Burlington.....	1	1
Bayfield.....	1	1
Lincoln.....	1	1
Washington.....	1	1
Hodge.....	1	1
Harrison.....	1	1
Clark.....	1	1
Kenosha.....	1	1
Barnett.....	4	4
Price.....	7	7
Total.....	110	131

Tomorrow is Milwaukee county's day for sessions and excitement. LaFollette claimed a goodly share of these delegates at the beginning of the fight but now he concedes that if he secures a small portion of them he will be content. The conservative Republicans thought that to allow him 46 out of the 146 was about a fair estimate but now conditions have changed and the outlook is for almost solid Whitehead and Spooner delegation from Milwaukee county.

INSURANCE GAMBLE IS DISASTROUS

Practice of Insuring Against King's Coronation in England Will Cost Companies Millions.

New York, June 26.—The Insurance Press of this city says: "If the insurance gamblers in London are not in a state of panic their nerves and pockets are strong. The indefinite postponement of the coronation of King Edward VII is certain, to result in heavy losses to so-called 'underwriters' that have granted speculative 'insurance'—in effect, merely wager policies of the most reckless kind which no insurance company in the United States could be induced to issue under any circumstances. 'Insuring' the king's life or his coronation, is a survival of conditions antedating the passage, a century and a quarter ago, of what was called the 'gambling act.' Prior to that time when insurable interest received its first definition in Great Britain, betting in the form of insurance on the lives of men put in jeopardy for crimes. When battles were to be fought large premiums were paid for insurance on eminent participants."

"There is a record that when George II fought at Dettingen a premium of 25 per cent was paid for an insurance of his return."

"It is the present day practice in England and in other European countries for persons whose investments or speculations depend upon the life or health of eminent persons or upon the successful carrying out of public celebrations, to take policies of insurance for short terms wherein a certain class of underwriters pledge themselves to pay money if the eminent persons die or the events do not come off according to programme. The London Lloyd's is a notorious hotbed for this kind of speculative underwriting."

"The postponement of the coronation ceremonies will draw heavily upon the resources of these and similar 'underwriters.' If the king should die the losses would probably reach into tens of millions of pounds. Even the legitimate life insurance companies of Europe are sometimes tempted to venture into these speculations under a strained interpretation of the law regulating insurable interest. American insurance men are far above these gambling propensities."

SENATOR SPOONER AS HE REALLY IS

A New York Correspondent Paints a Pen Picture of Him.

ISA FORCEFUL MAN

Delights in Malicious Drollery and Likes To Prod Some Democrats.

HE IS MUCH FEARED

These bright summer days, when mankind and especially womankind gravitates to Washington on excursion tickets and throngs the Senate galleries are the days when the fame of John C. Spooner goes traveling to all parts of the country on every homebound train. They are seed days for Spooner, and his harvest of reputation is later garnered in every homo that has sent an eager-eyed tourist to Washington in the spring.

For some reason, although everybody has heard Spooner's name, his fame is not so widespread as that of many other senators far inferior to him in ability. Because of this he dwains on the tourist as a surprise and when the tourist goes back home he is fuller of Spooner than of any other sight of Washington. Spooner is certainly the great feature of the annual spring pilgrimage to Washington.

To everybody in Washington Spooner is known as far and away the best debater in the Senate. In a debate he is the biggest gun the Republicans have, and they rush him into service and fire him whenever there is a stress of Democratic attack. He is always primed and ready.

Mischief in His Makeup.
There is much mischief about Spooner's makeup. He delights in malicious drollery and longs continually to prod some Democrat into undue heat which will make the Democrat ridiculous and supply grinning material for the galleries. And when he sets himself about this task he seldom fails. He does it in a casual, inconsequent sort of way, to the never ending surprise and delight of the tourist-filled galleries.

The Senate is droning along in a sleepy debate. Some prosy senator has the floor; the chamber is half empty, and nobody is paying any attention to the speaker. The door opens and the mischievous Spooner drifts in. He stands in the aisle a moment with his hands behind his back, surveying the pastoral scene. He catches the last sentence of the droning senator—the only one he has heard during the speech—and it supplies him with a text. In his suave and gentle manner he begs liberty to interrupt. Instantly every senatorial eye is fixed on Spooner and his victim, and a fearful joy fills every senatorial face. In a moment the accented is transformed; the prosy senator is talking four ways at once, and with every sentence of his comes an interruption from Spooner, barbed with sarcasm. The other senator is perspiring and red-faced; he has forgotten what he meant to say, and is getting into deeper water every moment. Some other senator rushes to his aid, and in a moment the mischief-maker from Wisconsin has them both tangled up and is juggling them like a sleight-of-hand man who is keeping a lot of glass balls in the air at once. When he has got the Senate thoroughly waked up and his victims desperate, he grins a wide, satisfied grin, and steps out again amid a sigh of regret from the gallery.

He is the Robin Goodfellow of the Senate, and looks not unlike that mischievous wight. He has a large, round face, a short, plump body, wavy hair, a smile with a comical twirl in it, and eyes that are always glinting with half-balding humor. No man is so dreaded by the Democrats and some of them will go almost to the point of rudeness to avoid one of his terrifying interruptions.

All Listen to Him.
When Spooner himself is making a speech every Senator is in his place and listening hard; for it is sure to be eloquent and powerful, as well as sharp and witty. The Democrats fight shy of interrupting him and bringing down one of his handlike retorts, but nevertheless, his speeches are fuller of interruption than those of any other Senator. Spooner causes this himself, and he does it in a characteristically Spoonerian way.

The Democrats resolve not to interrupt and not to pull down the avalanche, but they are unable to keep their resolutions. After Spooner has been talking long enough to feel the need of a little excitement, he turns toward some Democrat and waves his finger at him. He bends over in the Democrat's direction and shouts sentence after sentence directly at him. They sound like personal insults and yet when you read the speech over in The Congressional Record it turns out that what Spooner was saying had no relation whatever to his victim. Spooner can recite a tariff schedule or discuss elementary principles of civil government in such a tone of voice, that it seems as if he were personally insulting the man he is looking at.

After a while the Democrat can stand it no longer. He loses control of himself, bounds up, and interrupts. This is what Senator Spooner has Continued On Page 6

WILL $5 A WEEK KEEP MAN AND WIFE

Plucky Young Bride Says She Can Make Both Ends Meet on That Sum.

(Janesville housewives will be interested in the experiment which is being made by a young Chicago couple who eloped and were married the 23rd of last month and now find themselves facing the difficult problem of living on an income of $5 a week.

After boarding two weeks in a cheap boarding house in Whiting, the twenty year old husband grew tired of the attempt to support a wife on his small wages and deserted his seventeen year old bride. She was made of more courageous stuff and promptly had him arrested and taken before Justice Callahan in the South Chicago police court. Her father came to her aid by promising the young couple free shelter in his cottage at 431 East Eighty-ninth St., South Chicago, the husband promised to be faithful to his wife and help her with the solving of the economic questions and the justice declared the case off, telling the husband that a wife who could make both ends meet on his salary was worth sticking to.

The tender sentiment displayed in these incidents and the bravery of the girl wife in tackling singlehanded a problem which has puzzled students of sociology for a long time, give added interest to her experiment although the majority of people will be skeptical as to its success.

Some interesting figures. How it is to be done has been figured out by Mrs. Arthur Curphey, but she may find that tables of figures and actual living expenses are two different things. The amount allowed for table expenses for the week is to be $2.48, the items included bread, 35 cents; meat, 1.05 cents; tea and coffee, 35 cents; milk, 24 cents; butter, 26 cents; eggs, 18 cents; vegetables, 70 cents; sugar, etc., 25 cents. This allowed one loaf of bread and one pound of meat at 15 cents each day, a pound of butter, eight pints of milk, one dozen eggs, a third of a pound of tea and a half pound of coffee each week. The ten cents a day for vegetables is supposed to cover a little fruit when it is cheap.

Other Expenses. The problem of meeting the landlord once a month has been solved for the young couple by the bride's father and the two families will share the cost of the fuel gas for cooking and oil for illuminating, which doubtless takes another 25 cents out of the princely weekly balance of $1.52. Car fare, will not enter in to the calculation except in bad weather for Mr. Curphey rides a wheel to his work in Hammond where he is employed as an apprentice in the Conkey printing establishment a $5 per week.

Little For Clothes. Of this sum, according to the above figures, about $1.25 will be left each week for clothing and the incidental expenses which will pop up on every hand. Mrs. Curphey admits that she is a bit worried over clothes, as she can cut corners on household expenses and her own wearing apparel, but she doubts her husband's ability to exercise economy.

An Illustrous Example. While the problem of supporting two people on $5 a week hardly seems practical, there are lots of married folks who have much larger incomes, but who might profit by the economical suggestions and systematic planning of this young Chicago girl.

SPOONER IN REPARTEE.

Wisconsin Senator's Witty Correction of a Colleague's Statement.

United States Senators frequently indulge in playful repartees when struggling with legislative problems involving the expenditure of millions of money.

There was considerable doubt as to the final vote on the Spooner-Isthmian canal amendment. After it had been read Senator Bacon offered a further amendment to the amendment.

"The question is on the amendment of the senator from Georgia, as amended by the senator from Wisconsin," said the presiding officer, Mr. Frye. "As will be amended by the senate," interjected Senator Aldrich. "As will be accepted by the senate," retorted Mr. Spooner, with a decided accent on "accepted."

Senators laughed and the official reporters, exercising their own discretion, omitted the remarks.—Washington Correspondent New York Herald.

LOCOMOTIVE WAS BADLY WRECKED

Narrow Escape for Engineer Whalen and His Fireman on C. M. & St. Paul Engine.

Engine 1336, on the St. Paul road, in charge of engineer P. Whalen, came into the station yesterday morning on the Mineral Point train in a badly damaged condition. Both side rods were down and the front of the cab on the engineer's side of the engine was badly smashed.

The wreck was caused by the side rod strap on the rear right hand driver breaking down. Before the engine could be stopped the drivers made a number of revolutions and at each turn of the wheel the heavy iron rod smote the front of the cab, knocking it to pieces. Engineer Whalen had a narrow escape, as the inside of the cab was badly broken.

Narrow Escape for Crew. The accident occurred Tuesday night on the trip from Janesville to Mineral Point, just after the train had left Monroe. They had just started down a steep grade when engineer Whalen heard the strap snap and immediately shut off steam and jumped from his seat. The same instant the heavy beam swung around, smashing in the front of the cab, but doing no damage to the engineer or his fireman.

Wrecked Engine Brought Here. The train was soon brought to a standstill and the extent of the damage investigated. The damaged rod was disconnected and the side rod on the opposite side of the engine was taken down and the train was pulled to Mineral Point by the use of one set of drivers. The engine was also used to bring the train to this city this morning and arrived here on time. The heavy steel side rod was bent and twisted out of shape, by the force of the blows against the cab. The engine was taken to the shops in this city for repairs.

CONDUCTOR SAVES LIFE OF NEWSBOY

Lawrence Griffin Snatched from Beneath the Wheels of a Passenger Train.

Lawrence Griffin, a young son of Mrs. David Griffin, who resides on Gold street, can thank Conductor Murphy of the St. Paul road that he was not killed or badly injured Tuesday evening.

Young Griffin is a newsboy, familiarly known as "Monk," and was up to the six o'clock St. Paul train Tuesday night to get his papers. He and several other newsboys have been in the habit of jumping on the train as it pulled into the station, so as to be the first to get papers.

As the train pulled into the station, "Monk" as usual, started to jump on the rear step of the baggage car. Instead of catching hold of the rod in the rear of the car, he caught one hand on the rod protecting the step and swung in between the cars, and in another second he would have gone under the wheels.

Saved by Conductor Murphy. Fortunately conductor Murphy was standing on the front steps of the coach in the rear of the baggage car, and saw the boy go in between the cars. He made a dive for the little fellow and caught him by the coat just as he was going under the wheel and pulled him onto the platform considerably frightened but unhurt. After the train stopped, "Monk" was given a swift kick and started for home.

A Dangerous Habit. It is remarkable that there are not more accidents at the passenger stations, when the paper trains come in. There is a swarm of small boys about the station waiting for their papers and they pile onto the car steps while the train is still going at a good rate of speed, in order to be the first ones to get their papers and be off down town.

Ordinance is Disregarded. There is a swarm of small boys about this practice of jumping on cars, and it should be rigidly enforced by the police. Some day one of these boys will lose a leg or two or be killed and then there will be trouble.

Queer Personal Ornaments. The latest craze in Paris is the wearing of a lighted lantern as a personal ornament. The fashion originated with a speculative manufacturer, whose "petites lanternes" were bought by tens of thousands at the fair of Neuilly. The lantern is very small and neat, and made in a Gothic form after an ancient model.

The Place to Look. "Yes," said the lawyer, "there are many things to be investigated in this case. The first thing to be looked into—

TOBACCO SORTING NOT DANGEROUS

Work in the Janesville Warehouses Keeps Up, Despite Summer Months.

Accidents and sensations are not a part of the leaf tobacco business. A sorter or packer in one of the warehouses of the depot district of the city may not feel any unusual exhilaration in the work which occupies him. He does not feel the sensation of having large and complicated pieces of machinery about him, but at the same time he has no apprehension lest he return to his home at night shorn of three or four fingers, or with some other essential part of his organism missing.

As Foreman Lund of the George Rumrill warehouse said, "Tobacco in the leaf is preferred stock and the death rate is low." The Rumrill building has accommodations for about twenty-eight sorters and it is working nearly to its capacity at present. The Evansville branch of the same concern is doing even better than the Janesville house.

Sanford Soverhill's warehouse was empty of occupants and the doors locked on Wednesday.

The warehouse of F. S. Baines is one of the busiest. Some forty-five sorters are at work and shipments in large quantities are constantly being made.

The general statement given among the warehouses in Janesville is that the tobacco business is neither more booming or taking any slump from the same month in previous years. Trade is just fast enough to keep the houses at work, but not heavy enough to crowd the forces employed.

Some Large Sales. Among the recent sales is one by Soultman, of 85 cases of tobacco. The consignee is the Julius Marquette company of New York. The sale was conducted by Alexander L. McIntosh, for the Marquette company. At Soverhill's it is reported that the month is much more quiet than usual. A carload shipment was recently made from Stoughton by the Soverhill concern, but this is a regular monthly transaction. The story is told of an especially large deal recently made by Stewart B. Heddles, but although the fact is admitted by the company no further details are furnished.

World's Consumption of Tea.

A paper was issued in London recently by the board of trade showing what has been the per capita consumption of tea during the three years 1898-1899 in the principal countries of Europe and the United States. In the United Kingdom over six pounds of tea per head of the population are consumed annually. The total consumption of tea in the United Kingdom exceeds that of all the other European countries and the United States put together.

A JOKE ON COOPER.

Wisconsin Congressman's Story Did Not go With Correspondent.

Representative Cooper of Wisconsin, who likes a practical joke, attempted the other day to trap a well-known correspondent who contributes stories to his metropolitan Journal. Meeting the correspondent, Mr. Cooper triumphantly announced that he had a new story. Whereupon he related the incident of the two Kentuckians whose appreciation of the flavor of whiskey was so acute that when they had sampled a barrel one said that he tasted iron and the other was sure that he could detect a dash of leather. An examination of the barrel showed that it contained a leather-headed tack. "The story is true," said Cooper, "because I was there when it happened."

"Mr. Cooper," said the correspondent, with rebuke in every tone of his voice, "that story is exactly 300 years old. You must have been reading 'Don Quixote.'"

"I have," confessed Mr. Cooper. "The joke is on me. Let's go down to the restaurant right away."—Washington Post.

PLAN TO ENLARGE Y. M. C. A. BUILDING

Would Add a Wing to the Dormitory and Also Increase the Capacity.

For some time past the need of more dormitory room in the Y. M. C. A. building has been sorely felt and now plans are on foot which it is hoped will lead to the building of an addition sufficiently commodious to meet the present demands.

During the past winter men who have applied for rooms have been turned away at the rate of eight or ten a week and it is desired to avoid the repetition of a similar condition this year. As it is the building is taxed to its capacity.

A committee has been appointed by the board of directors to look into the situation and make some recommendation as to the most desirable course to pursue. Dr. E. E. Loomis is the chairman of this committee which will doubtless be given carte blanche to see to the execution of whatever plans may be submitted in their report to the directors.

To Build in Rear.

The addition that is needed is at the rear of the west side of the building which has never been completely filled out, and would be made up wholly of rooms for dormitories. Some of the younger members of the association have spoken of possible extensions to the gymnasium, but this does not enter into the proposed changes. The gymnasium is abundantly ample for all present needs and until the demand is more pressing no such alteration will be suggested to the directors.

As to the financial plan by which the money for the extensions which are under consideration is to be raised, the committee are ready to make no public statement.

CONFEREES AGREE ON PANAMA ROUTE

Favorable Report Is Made to the House on the Spooner Bill.

MORGAN ACCEPTS HIS DEFEAT

Advises His Congressional Delegation from Alabama and Other Southern Democratic Representatives to Support the Conference Report.

Washington, June 26.—An Isthmian canal will be constructed at Panama under the provisions of the Spooner bill as it passed the senate. After two meetings the conferees representing the senate and the house agreed to report in favor of the passage of the bill. Representative Hepburn of Iowa, whose bill for the construction of the Nicaragua canal was passed by the house, and who was at the head of the house conferees, reported the agreement of the conferees to the house before adjournment, but the speaker called attention to the rule which requires conference reports to be printed in the Congressional Record before consideration by the house, and therefore no action was taken. The conference report will, however, be taken up to-day, and no material opposition to its acceptance is expected to develop.

Yield to Sentiment.
Inasmuch as the house conferees report in favor of the adoption of the Spooner bill as it passed the senate, no action by the senate will be necessary unless the house refuses to accept the conference report, which is unanimous.

The sentiment of the house has been thoroughly canvassed by the house conferees. Two of them favored the Hepburn Nicaragua bill and the third was opposed to any canal legislation. They found upon inquiry that a strong sentiment existed in favor of accepting the Spooner bill and they reluctantly yielded. Senator Morgan, at the head of the senate conferees, has been working for a Nicaragua bill, but he realizes the strength of the Panama project, and advised the members of his congressional delegation from Alabama and his other Southern Democratic friends to support the conference report. Mr. Hepburn does not expect any debate of consequence upon the conference report and believes it can be quickly passed, probably by a nearly unanimous vote.

SUNDRY CIVIL BILL.

House Concurs in Senate Amendments and Passes the Bill.

Washington, June 26.—The agreement on the sundry civil appropriation bill, which was concurred in by the house, strikes out $574,350 of the senate amendments which remained in dispute after the last conference and which amounted to $1,283,950. Some of the main items to be stricken out are: For a memorial bridge at Washington, $100,000, with limit of cost to $2,500,000; for a hall of records in Washington, and for a number of minor lighthouse projects. A favorable agreement was reached appropriating $200,000 for the construction of buildings as an enlargement of military posts at Hawaii. The provisions segregating certain appropriations for military posts and allowing the secretary of war to accept donations of land for the establishment of military posts and national cemeteries were stricken out. The bill as finally agreed to carries $60,125,359.

PRaises the Tariff.

Senator Gallinger Declares Dingley Law Brought Prosperity.

Washington, June 26.—Mr. Gallinger addressed the senate on his resolution declaring that "the present phenomenal prosperity in all lines of business and industry in the United States is largely due to the existing tariff laws, and the best interests of the country demand their continuance." He said that next month the Dingley tariff law would have been in operation for five years. For the United States that period had been the most prosperous era in its history.

The law had been an unqualified success, and had vindicated completely the views of its framers. The prosperity of the United States during the operation of the Dingley law, he said, despite great strikes and some partial crop failures, had excited the wonder of the world, being the most remarkable in history.

Naval Station for Chicago.
Washington, June 26.—The house adopted the conference report on the naval bill, which restores the provision for a naval training station for the great lakes in Chicago. As originally passed by the house the bill provided for the station, but the senate knocked out the provision. Chairman Foss was instrumental in having the naval station proviso adopted by the house.

MAY ADJOURN JULY 2.

Congress Expects to Finish Its Business by that Time.

Washington, June 26.—Unless there is unexpected delay in disposing of the pending work the present session of congress will adjourn next Wednesday, July 2. There are only two appropriation bills of minor importance and the Philippine government bill that must be disposed of. The house will vote on the Philippine bill after the conference report on the canal bill is adopted. Mr. Cooper of Wisconsin, chairman of the insular committee of the house, said that in his opinion the house would insist upon its Philippine bill, which differs in several essential features from the bill which the senate passed. The bill involves indirectly a fight between Mr. Cooper and Senator Spooner.

Pauncefote's Sali.
Washington, June 26.—It is said by friends of the Pauncefote family, which sailed for England, that Lord Pauncefote's eldest daughter Maude will publish a book in defense of her father, the late ambassador. It is said there is a feeling among his friends that the British foreign office treated him unfairly in regard to the disclosures of the negotiations prior to the Spanish-American war. Miss Pauncefote may publish her father's poetic works in book form. The late ambassador achieved some fame in his early life writing under the nom de plume of "Templar."

Judge Cox Is Dead.
Washington, June 26.—Walter S. Cox, formerly associate justice of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, and one of the most distinguished jurists in this section, died here. He was 76 years old. He presided over many famous criminal cases, the most notable of which was the trial of Guiteau for the assassination of President Garfield.

COLONEL H. G. REEVES IS DEAD

Was a Prominent Politician and Served in the Civil War.

Bloomington, Ill., June 26.—Death came yesterday to Colonel Henry G. Reeves, for many years a prominent politician of this city. He was fifty-seven years old. He served through the civil war in the Sixty-eighth Illinois Infantry, and had since practiced law here. He was private secretary to Governor J. W. Fifer during the latter's term of office and was also a member of the governor's staff. He had long been prominent as a Mason, and was also widely known in Grand Army of the Republic circles. He had lived a rather retired life of late. He had few superiors as an orator and was in frequent demand in that capacity. He left a wife and one daughter.

DAVID T. LITTLER'S FUNERAL

Held Under the Auspices of the Knights Templar of Springfield.

Springfield, Ill., June 26.—The funeral of the late David T. Littler was held from the residence on Klein street, Rev. D. F. Howe, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. At the conclusion of the services at the residence the Knights Templar took charge of the remains and conducted the services at the grave. The active pallbearers were Judge Charles P. Kane, Judge William L. Gross, Joseph Shafter, H. B. Henkle, Ernest Helmle and Dr. George N. Kreider. The funeral was largely attended.

Not to Be Trusted.

The Scotch gardener of a New York estate had vague notions of geography. One of his master's youngest sons was trying to explain to Tobias the extent of his country. Finally, he ran into the house and brought a many-colored map of the United States. Tobias bent over it a minute, then exclaimed, "Mon, mon, 'tis no to be trustid; 'tis laid out in the plaid o' thae lyin' MacFeehlans."

DEATH FOLLOWS INDIANA STORM

Three Persons Are Killed and Over One Hundred Seriously Hurt

PROPERTY DAMAGE IS GREAT

Greatest Force Was at Maxwell, Where Every House in Town Was Damaged, the United States Chain Factory Being Destroyed.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 26.—Three persons were killed, 100 or more injured and half a dozen counties in northern Indiana were devastated, homes, factories and churches being torn to pieces by a tornado that swept clear across the state. Hundreds of buildings were demolished and scattered, many cattle were killed and crops over a wide area were completely destroyed. The total damage is estimated at over $2,000,000.

The storm traveled into Ohio, where at night it laid waste the greater portion of the city of Marietta, killing one person and injuring many more as it demolished some of the finest as well as historic buildings. Among the ruined structures is the old fort, constructed in pioneer days.

The towns which suffered the most and which lay in the direct path of the storm were Ingalls, McCordsville, Greenfield, Pendleton, Castleton, Wilkinsons, Maxwell and Westfield. The Y. M. C. A. camp at Broad Ripple was destroyed.

Killed at Funeral.
At the little town of Cleveland the funeral of Mrs. Mary Earl was in progress at the family residence and a large number of people were present. The roof of the house adjoining was blown off and a part of the debris crashed through the wall of the Earl residence and fell upon the persons assembled. Several were badly injured and A. A. Sample of Greenfield was killed. The backs and carriages in the street were blown into each other and several of the drivers injured, while seven horses were either killed outright or so badly injured that they had to be killed.

Damages at Maxwell.
The storm seemed to gain its greatest force at Maxwell, and nearly every house in the town was damaged. Many were moved off their foundations and some entirely wrecked. The New Brothers elevator and flouring mill was demolished. The United States Chain factory, which was completed but a few days ago, was also destroyed. John Shrader's house was also torn to pieces, and Brandt's drug store was wrecked. Miss Chapel was struck by a ladder which had been blown from a Big Four water tank. She is believed to be fatally hurt. Mrs. Cicero Hamilton, 80 years old, was killed by the house blowing down her.

Property Loss Large.
At Wilkinson a bottle factory and glass factory were wrecked, and in the latter a number of workmen were struck by parts of the falling walls and more or less injured. At Ingalls a glass factory was blown down and a number of employees injured.

At McCordsville the general store of Pickle & Lingle was razed to the ground, and a farmer who happened to be in it at the time was killed. The Methodist church was demolished, and nearly every house in the town damaged.

At Greenfield a number of houses were unroofed, and Westfield and Pendleton both suffered severely.

The property loss is estimated at several hundred thousand dollars, and the loss of life may reach a dozen or more, as in the excitement it was impossible to tell just how badly some of the victims were injured. Every physician in the counties through which the storm passed was called upon and many demands had to be left unanswered.

Many orchards were ruined and wheat and oats were badly damaged. Several buildings in Lafayette were unroofed and many smokestacks were blown down.

Other Storms.

Chicago, June 26.—Furious storms of wind, rain, hail and lightning caused great damage during the day in Illinois, Michigan, Iowa and South Dakota. The Dakota storm was in the nature of a tornado. Houses in towns in the vicinity of Yankton were wrecked. Many persons were injured and crops were almost wholly destroyed in parts of Clay and Yankton counties.

Help West Virginia Miners.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 26.—A cash donation of $50,000 to be used in carrying on the strike in the West Virginia coal fields was received at national headquarters of the United Mine Workers in Indianapolis. It came from the Illinois miners.

Tobacco Factory Burns.

Germanstown, Ohio, June 26.—The large tobacco warehouse owned by W. S. Eby and occupied by Joseph Endress, Jr., burned, with contents. Mr. Endress' loss is about $15,000, insured. House loss about $1,000, small insurance.

CHOICE OF THE CONVENTIONS.

Thompson Named in Nebraska and Pattison Is to Lead Pennsylvanians.

Grand Island, Neb., June 26.—After twenty-four hours of almost continuous session the joint convention of Democrats and Populists nominated a full ticket with W. H. Thompson of Hall county, a Democrat, for governor. Five places on the ticket were awarded to the Populists and three to the Democrats.

Pattison for Governor.

Eric, Pa., June 26.—For the third time in twenty years ex-Gov. Robert Pattison of Philadelphia was nominated for governor of Pennsylvania by the Democratic state convention. The platform makes no reference to national questions, which indicates that the campaign will be made strictly on state issues.

Indorses Roosevelt.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 26.—President Roosevelt's administration was warmly commended by the Republican state convention, after which President Roosevelt was declared to be the logical candidate for the presidential nomination in 1904. Every mention of the president's name evoked great enthusiasm.

Indorses Bryan.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 26.—After nominating L. A. Rosing of Cannon Falls for governor the Minnesota state Democratic convention expressed admiration for William J. Bryan and reaffirmed the Kansas City platform.

Offended Her Dignity.

"No," said the red-haired woman at the real estate sale, with an air of injured dignity, "I would not take one of your old lots now if you would give it to me. All the other ladies have been driven around while I had to walk."

It quickly eradicates all trace of scalp bacteria, which is the cause of hair falling, dandruff and baldness. NO SCALP CAN BE HEALTHY AND NO HAIR CAN BE BEAUTIFUL WHEN CONTAMINATED WITH THESE DISEASE-BREEDING CREATURES; they undermine the hair and devour all the nutriment or life-sap of the scalp, without which the scalp dries up and peels off, forming dandruff and causing the loss of hair. DANDERINE IS THE ONLY REMEDY IN THE WORLD THAT WILL DESTROY THESE GERMS; it penetrates the scalp thoroughly, carrying with it all the necessary properties to quickly regenerate all the impoverished parts; it rebuilds the lost tissues of the scalp and renews the growth of the hair in every case. WEATHER FORECAST

Partly cloudy tonight and Friday; possibly showers Friday.

UNITED STATES AND ASIA

Exports from the United States to Asia are showing a greater gain in the present year than those to any other part of the world. The latest reports of the Treasury Bureau of Statistics show an increase in the exports to nearly every division of Asia during the ten months ending with April, while to South Africa they show a decrease in the exports to nearly every division. To the Dutch East Indies the figures show an increase of from $1,491,142 in the ten months of 1901 to $1,683,185 in ten months of the present fiscal year; to Hongkong, from $6,935,703 to $7,396,270; to Japan, from $15,118,532 to $18,951,250; and to China, from $7,423,343 to $20,163,123. To China our exports for the full fiscal year seem likely to exceed those of any preceding year, and to Japan they will exceed those of any previous year except 1900 which was exceptional because of the large purchases of cotton made in the United States in that year for the Japanese market.

Our exports to China which in 1892 were $5,653,497, seem likely to be nearly or quite $25,000,000 in 1902. To Japan our exports in 1892 were $3,290,111 and in 1902 seem likely to be $23,000,000. To Hongkong our exports during 1892 were $4,894,049, and in 1902 seem likely to be about $8,500,000. To the British East Indies our exports in 1892 were $3,674,307, and in 1902 will be about $5,000,000. To the Dutch East Indies they were in 1892 $1,372,035 and in 1902 will be about $2,000,000. To the Russian possessions in Asia our exports in 1892 were $120,200, and those of 1902 will considerably exceed a million dollars. To all of Asia our exports in 1892 were $19,690,350 and in 1902 they will aggregate about $66,000,000.

To Oceania, the actual growth in our exports is not so readily perceptible, because of the fact that the figures of exports to Oceania no longer include our shipments to the Hawaiian Islands, which are now considered as domestic trade with domestic territory. Comparing 1892 with 1902, however, there is a marked growth in the shipments of foreign commerce. To British Australia our exports were, in 1892 $11,356,677, and in 1902 will be about $30,000,000. To the Philippine Islands our exports in 1892 were $60,914 and in 1902 will be about $5,000,000. The total exports to Oceania in 1892 were $15,572,767, and these figures included $3,781,628 of shipments to the Hawaiian Islands. In 1902 the total to Oceania, exclusive of the Hawaiian Islands will be about $35,000,000, while to the Hawaiian Islands alone the shipments during the year, according to the best figures obtainable by the Bureau of Statistics, amount to about $20,000,000 making our total exports to Oceania including the Hawaiian Islands about $55,000,000 and to Asia and Oceania combined about $120,000,000, as against $35,000,000 in 1892.

The "Spectator" in a recent number of the "Outlook," describes the city of London, as it appeared to him on a recent visit. He calls it an overgrown village and intimates that in many ways it is fifty years behind New York and many other American cities. Electric and cable cars are practically an unknown quantity and the bus lines are not operated on the principle streets until nine o'clock in the morning. The Sunday paper is not known and a ten story building is regarded as the work of the arch enemy.

The city of Edgerton is chewing the rag and putting on war paint for the convention of July 8. There promises to be a display of oratory and a wall of complaint that will interest the dead. It might be well for the citizens of that enterprising town to remember that when they talked the loudest at the last convention, the chairman decided that there was nothing before the meeting and the assemblage dispersed.

The re-appointment of Postmaster Olson, at Oshkosh, appears to give general satisfaction. If he is a good official, there was no reason for removal. Congressman Davidson should have adopted the tactics of his colleagues, and had an early convention. There are no files on Wisconsin congressmen as a rule, when it comes to looking out for number one.

The Milwaukee Journal has been quite decent for several days. The panorama is moving so rapidly that the paper don't know whether to bat LaFollette or Whitehead over the head. The Journal has lost nothing in the way of wisdom, and what it don't know about how to run a party would fill a library. It will be a full fledged democratic organ after July 16, with plenty of business to tide it over the heated term.

If the democrats kick up so much of a disturbance at the republican caucuses, what will they do when it comes to the election? Perhaps the "fair-minded" class will vote for La-

Follette if they have a chance and then again perhaps they won't. This reform administration is getting to be a good deal of a farce.

It looks very much as though Janesville will go out of town to celebrate the "Fourth." The atmosphere has been so full of democrats and politics that there hasn't been much time for any thing so tame as a celebration.

How to get married for 70 cents is a question recently solved by a couple in Fond du Lac. Now if some one will tell them how to keep house on the same liberal basis, it may prove an incentive for young men to follow suit.

Ell Pederson seemed to be quite numerous in Dane county. Ell should go slow and learn to peddle. He may run up against a real proposition before he gets old enough to wear a wig.

"By voting at the republican caucus you deprive yourself of the right to vote at the democratic caucus," says chairman Bryan. You have a perfect right to vote, says the governor. Come over and help us.

"A dignified neutrality should be adopted by every loyal democrat," says chairman Bryan. The fair-minded brothers are invited to assist, says the governor. The steering committee don't seem to agree.

It is currently reported that in one ward in Evansville, there were only three democrats who failed to vote at the last republican caucuses. Evansville is a prohibition town.

Cleveland had better stick to his gun and rod. By the time Bryan and Watterston get through with him, he won't know "where he's at."

Ice cream and pigs feet is said to be a good hot weather diet. Madison might do well to add the luxury to her menu for convention week.

The Twilight Club movement for beautifying the parks, is showing good results. The city was wise in helping the cause along.

If there is any reason why the town of Rock should be represented in the next republican convention it is not apparent.

Panama hats may be all right for hot weather, but the man who owns one, shouldn't be rushing the season.

Small pox is the latest innovation in Zion City.

PRESS COMMENT

Marionette Eagle: The enthusiasm with which the LaFollette press (does not) endorse Senator Spooner, is a sure token of their faith.

Hudson Star-Times: Speaking of the Frost mortgage bill, Judge Gilson approving it said: "It is the greatest step towards tax reform Wisconsin has ever taken at any one time." Yet, Governor LaFollette killed it, because he did not personally or politically like Mr. Frost. Is such a man big enough to be governor of a great commonwealth?

Only One.

The Superior Leaders Inquires if there is a Republican in the state who opposed LaFollette two years ago that is in favor of his renomination now. Yes, there is one. His name is Overbeck. Overbeck may be able to give sound reasons for his change of attitude within the time stated, but so far he has kept them to himself. The only known reason for his conversion is that he has been appointed by Gov. LaFollette to one of the most lucrative offices in the state, that of chief game warden. And as such he is very active—principally, however, in looking after the LaFollette "lame ducks," which are like the sands on the sea shore in that they cannot be numbered.—Appleton Post.

SOULMAN FACTORY SOLD

Harry O. Schmidley of This City is Now The Owner

Harry O. Schmidley, of this city, has disposed of his interest in the West Milwaukee street restaurant business to his brother, E. J. Schmidley, and has made the purchase of the John Souleman cigar factory at 51 North Main street. Mr. Schmidley will conduct the factory as a union shop and will employ only the best skilled labor to be obtained. Several improvements will be made in the factory and the same brands of high grade cigars will be manufactured. Mr. Souleman, who has conducted the factory for the past fourteen years, will now devote his time to the leaf tobacco business. Mr. Schmidley's numerous friends in all sections of the county will join in wishing him success.

YOUSEFF, THE TURK

Clad in Eastern Garment He Attracts Great Attention on the Streets
Youseff, The Terrible Turk, was the object of all eyes as he slowly strolled up and down the business streets last night. His garb was that of his own country, of bright red trousers. The one exception lay in his shoes, which were a pair of heavy American bluchers. Shoes seemed to be an object of special interest with him and at the window of every shoe store he passed he stopped and carefully scrutinized the display.

Finally after a few trips around the streets he anchored at rest in a candy shop in the companionship of those from the Orient, although they were unable to speak his own tongue. In monosyllables of broken English he commented on the weather, the passing crowd and the coming night, interlarding his words with puffs from a long black cigar.

NEWS OF THE CITY IN BRIEF.

The indications are that the excursion to Lake Geneva tomorrow will be a big one and it certainly ought to be. Last year about five hundred children were carried free and this year probably more than that number will go free in order to be able to do this a large number of adults must go. These excursions were first tried last year as an experiment and that one was so successful that it is being tried again this year, and if this one should be equally successful another year the committee would be in a position to attempt even more in the way of attractions. The excursions are in no sense money making affairs nor is it desired that they shall be but on the other hand they must be patronized to the extent of coming out even if they are to be continued. The public should appreciate what is offered for the money and encourage such undertakings. The Y. M. C. A. band will go with the excursion tomorrow and play during the day.

The committee of arrangements for the excursion tomorrow to Lake Geneva wish to ask all who have not purchased tickets in advance to be on hand as early as possible tomorrow morning in order to facilitate matters at the depot. The train will leave at 8:15.

This is what you hear through the telephone. Mrs. Smith calls up Mrs. Brown, and says: "Mrs. Brown is that you?" "Yes." "Say, we will have to postpone our tea-party tomorrow." "Why so, Mrs. Smith?" "Because most everyone I have talked about is going on the excursion to Geneva Lake." "That's so it's the Union Sunday school picnic to Geneva Lake." "Say, let's go too. I will meet you at the depot at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. Don't forget your lunch." "Good-bye."
Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Lewis and son Rollin left today for Delavan Lake where they expect to remain for some time.

FRUIT IS DAMAGED BY HAIL

Severe Storm Ruins Cherries in the St. Joseph Belt.

St. Joseph, Mich., June 26.—The most severe hail and rain storm in recent years swept over this vicinity, traveling in a strip not over two miles in width. The streets in this city were flooded, the storm sewers being unable to carry off the water. Many cellars were flooded. The remaining crop of cherries was ruined by hail, but grapes, peaches and raspberries escaped injury owing to their heavy foliage. Reports received from eastern districts say that all tree fruit suffered severely from hail, resulting a loss of several thousand dollars to growers.

Racine pupils presented a silver tea service to Father Meyer of St. Mary's church. The occasion was the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination.

PUBLIC IS AWAKENING

To the Fact That Pasteurized Milk is Absolutely Necessary.

After many months of untiring efforts on the part of the Bower City Creamery company, the public is just beginning to appreciate the true value of pasteurized milk. During the past two weeks the number of customers have nearly doubled. Recommendations from many of the leading physicians of the city have added the South River street firm in placing many new patrons. Pasteurized milk is as pure as is possible to obtain it. After passing through the pasteurizing process there is absolutely no possible danger from germs. The promoters of the Bower City Creamery Co. have expended a large sum in promoting the local concern and with the great amount of good that they are daily doing on all sides there is no doubt that in time they will receive the hearty support of the majority of milk and cream patrons. The cost of pasteurizing milk in Janesville today is no greater than what is being asked for impure milk.

MARY FARNSWORTH BERT H. HOPKINS

UNITED IN MARRIAGE TODAY

Quiet Ceremony a Surprise to Many Friends—Some Other Happy Brides and Grooms.

Miss Mary Farnsworth of this city, and Bert H. Hopkins of Bloomington, Ill., were married by Rev. Robert C. Denison today at high noon, the ceremony being performed at the Congregational church parsonage. Miss Alice Farnsworth, sister of the bride, and Miss Purcell, were the witnesses.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Eliza Farnsworth, 207 South Jackson street, only the immediate relatives being present.

The announcement of the marriage will be a surprise to the bride's many friends for today's wedding was the result of a sudden decision on the part of the interested parties, Mr. Hopkins being able, unexpectedly, to get away from his business. He is treasurer of a large agricultural implement manufacturing company in Bloomington, but is well known in this city where he resided for some time.

The bride is a daughter of the late Isaac Farnsworth and has many friends who will wish her every happiness. Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins leave for their home in Bloomington this evening.

SHEPARD-BALDRIDGE

At the home of Charles T. Shepard, 105 Terrace street, there occurred a pretty wedding yesterday afternoon at three o'clock when Miss Nettie Mae Shepard, daughter of the host, and Clyde L. Baldridge were happily united in marriage. To the sweet strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Hattie Richards, sister of the bride, the young people, unattended took their places beneath an arch of vines and cut flowers where the wedding vows were spoken before Rev. Richard M. Vaughan, pastor of the Baptist church.

Only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties witnessed the ceremony. The home was prettily decorated with vines and cut flowers and the bride was becomingly attired in a white gown. She carried pink and white carnations. The tempting wedding supper, which followed the ceremony, was served by the Misses Hattie and Agnes Richards and the Messrs. Frank and Arthur Shepard. Both bride and groom have a host of friends in this city, the bride having lived here all her life and the groom being an enterprising young carpenter. After a wedding trip to Milwaukee Mr. and Mrs. Baldridge will return to this city to reside.

WOODMAN-DAY

In the presence of a large company of relatives and friends, Miss Maud Elizabeth Woodman, of the town of LaPrairie, and John W. Day, of Chicago, were united in marriage yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents in the town of LaPrairie, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Holard Hamen, of Beloit. Mr. and Mrs. Day left last evening on a short wedding trip after which they will go to housekeeping in Austin, Ill. Mr. Day holds a responsible position in the office of the American Bridge Company of Chicago.

Start July 1: The Interurban railroad company are expecting to have their cars running between Beloit and Rockford on July 1.

Moved Dump Cars: Hayes Bros. moved a string of their dump cars from this city to the vicinity of Afton to use on the grading for the Beloit, Delavan Lake and Janesville Interurban road.

Jackson Street Completed: The macadamizing of South Jackson street was completed this afternoon by Contractors Brown and Connors and will be ready for use in a few days. The numerous rains this spring have delayed the work considerably.

Large Excursion: An excursion from Aurora, Ill., to Madison on the Northwestern passed through Afton this morning and consisted of six special trains of ten coaches each. It was the largest excursion that has passed through this section for some time. It was organized by the grocers of Aurora.

Business Meeting: The directors of the Janesville Cotton Mills will hold a business meeting this afternoon at 4 o'clock to consider the matter of extending the option given to W. H. Wheeler of Beloit. The meeting called for Tuesday afternoon did not materialize on account of a quorum not being present.

Start Work Today: Blake Bros. started a force of men at work today putting in the cement gutters on Milton avenue. The excavating for the macadam work will not be started until the cement men get a block or two ahead of the teams. They will have considerable trouble moving the tracks of the street railway company as the work progresses.

Rush Work on New Depot: Johnson & Son are hustling the work on the foundation for the new St. Paul station. A large force of stone masons are at work and already the larger portion of the foundation for the baggage and express rooms which will be east of High street has been laid. The excavation for the balance of the station is all done with a few exceptions.

In Court: In the municipal court yesterday the case of Mary Monahan against Ann Cribben, being an action to recover pay for board, was tried. After listening to the testimony and the arguments of the attorneys Judge Fifield took the case under advisement and will hand down a decision next Tuesday. E. H. Ryan appeared for the plaintiff and George Sutherland for the defense.

W. R. C.: The members of W. H. Sargent post Relief Corps No. 21 held a regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon. At the close of the business session the president announced that there were four members who were celebrating their birthdays and a birthday reception was held for the members. Refreshments were served in honor of the guests and enjoyed by all. The ladies who celebrated their birthdays were Mesdames Helen Wray, Mary Reader, Lizzie Granger and Anna Klenow.

More Street Car Trouble: The trolley wire on the Forest park street car line fell down yesterday, but fortunately no one was injured. It took some time to repair the break and the cars were not running until evening.

Street Car Improvements: The Janesville Street Railway Co. is making numerous improvements in the road bed of their present line. In the first ward on North Academy street, north of the railroad tracks the road bed has been dug up and a large number of new ties laid and the line put in first class shape. As soon as Blake Bros. start on the improvement of Milton avenue that line will be rebuilt. Mr. Wm. Blabon, who is now in charge of the system is making every effort to get the line in good running order.

C. E. WORKERS GO TO STATE MEETING

CONVENTION AT FOND DU LAC

A. E. Matheson, President of the Wisconsin Endeavorers, and Local Delegates in Attendance.

A. E. Matheson, state president of the Young People's Christian Endeavor Society of Wisconsin, accompanied by quite a large delegation from the three local societies, went to Fond du Lac today to attend the annual convention of the state society.

Janesville will be well represented in the convention for the state society has found two of its most prominent workers in this city—President Matheson and Miss Fanny Jackson. Miss Jackson was secretary of the state society for two years and her resignation was only accepted when she went to the University to take the special course in library work, thus making it impossible for her to attend to her duties as secretary. Miss Jackson will be the leader of the Woman's Devotional meeting to be held Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Matheson has been president of the state society for the past two years. He will deliver an address tomorrow morning and preside during the sessions of the convention. The Janesville delegation includes Mr. and Mrs. A. E. WILL ENTERTAIN VISITING GOLFERS

ROCKFORD CLUB HERE FRIDAY

Match Game Will Be Played on the Local Links—Dinner Served for the Guests.

Secretary J. P. Baker of the Mississippi Golf club received a telephone message from Secretary Tridle, of the Rockford Country club, saying their delegation would arrive here Friday morning at 8:45 over the St. Paul road. They will have a team of from twelve to fifteen players and a number of ladies and gentlemen, about forty in all.

The visitors will be met at the station by a delegation of the Mississippi club members and escorted to the grounds where the players will be given a chance to play and become familiar with the course, before the afternoon match.

Will Serve Dinner

Dinner will be served in the club house to the visitors and members of the Mississippi club under the supervision of Mrs. H. G. Carter and the ladies of the club. They have made arrangements to feed all the club members who desire to get their dinners at the club house with the visitors.

The Rockford people will probably return home at six o'clock and a lunch will be served in the club house before they leave. The rain yesterday helped the greens very much and the green committee are making every effort to have the course in the best possible shape for the visitors.

The Two Teams

The names of the Rockford players have not yet been given out. The Janesville men will probably play in the order that they come on the team list and should be able to win their match.

SENATOR SPOONER AS HE REALLY IS IS FORCEFUL AS A DEBATOR

A New York Correspondent's Pen Picture of the Dauntless Badger Statesman.

been working for, yet he immediately assumes a pathetic air of baby-like innocence and griefed resignation, and looks to the chair for protection against this uncalculated interruption. This proceeding never fails to completely "rattle" the interrupter. Sometimes Spooner carries this childish humor of his so far as to refuse to be interrupted. The interrupter then becomes warm and insistent and Spooner gracefully yields and lets him make the interruption. Spooner has been angling for all along; and it brings down a retort from Spooner that sounds like the fall of a trip-hammer, and spurs confusion for the interrupter.

Although this is a regular feature of Spooner's method, it never fails to work, and never fails to make the interrupting Senator appear ridiculous. At the moment the interrupter really thinks that Spooner has been attacking him, such is the deceptive power of Spooner's ferocious manner; but in the cold print of the Record, there is nothing to show why the interruption was made, and it always seems foolish and irrelevant.

A Tilt With Tillman.
One day, in the course of a long and able speech, Spooner selected Tillman as his victim. He frequently does, for he delights in spurring Tillman into doing things that look ridiculous, and the impetuosity of the South Carolinian's temperament makes him an easy prey. On this occasion Spooner rapped up and down the floor in front of Tillman, waving his fingers at him and keeping his fiery eye fixed upon the "Pitchfork's" force face. What he was saying had no more to do with Tillman than the man in the moon. At last Tillman became so restless that he could stand it no longer, and leaping to his feet, started to make an impetuous reply. Instantly the heat disappeared from Spooner's manner and was succeeded by the baby stare and in a voice as plaintive as the cry of a wild heron and a tone of injured innocence, the spry of the Senate asked rhetorically what he had done to merit this interruption.

Tillman was so surprised that he fairly stuttered and the flood of eloquence that was boiling in him choked in his throat. He tried to think what was the Spoonerian insult which had goaded him to rise, and could not; and all the time Spooner was looking at him with a resigned air and folded hands, waiting for the explanation.

"Well—well—why," Tillman blurted out at last, "anyway, the senator looked at me."
"But I can't help looking at the senator," meekly answered Robin Goodfellow; "he is so handsome."
The one-eyed wielder of the pitchfork started to say something, choked, spluttered and fell into his seat. And yet, within fifteen minutes, Spooner was doing it again, and Tillman was on his feet roaring like a mad bull. This is no reflection on Tillman's intelligence; no other senator could stand Spooner's manner any better. This time, having goaded Tillman into interrupting, Spooner meekly gave way, with a sigh of protest, and let Tillman begin his question; but after Tillman had uttered one sentence, to which Spooner had listened as one thirsty for instruction, the Wisconsin gave a violent start, pulled out his watch, and then turned quickly to compare it with the Senate clock.

Tillman attempted to go on, but could not. The expression of rapt interest that Spooner wore as he conferred with the clock was a death-blow to speech. Tillman stammered, forgot what he wanted to say; tried to think, but gave it up, and, completely "rattled," burst out furiously with:

"Why does the senator look at the clock?"
Spooner's eyes dropped from the clock and sought Tillman's lone eye with an air of resigned surprise. "The senator doesn't own the clock," he said in a mild, remonstrating tone of voice.

"I know I don't," replied Tillman. "But—but—" and then he gave it up and sat down sheepishly. The cold type of the Record, of course, made this occurrence look as if Tillman had interrupted causelessly and foolishly when he had nothing to say.

His Chosen Victims.
But Spooner's chosen victims are serious-minded senators like Money, who are not good in give-and-take debate. Money dreads Spooner as he does the plague. When he is speaking he will go to any length to keep Spooner from interrupting. Spooner knows it, and when Money is talking the Wisconsin man sits across the aisle and listens to him with an air of gentle interest. Money cannot keep his eyes off Spooner and momentarily dreads an interruption, and it has the same encouraging effect upon his powers as a rattlesnake coiled in the next seat would have.

Recently while Money was delivering an extremely serious speech about oleomargarine, Spooner came in, and as the door closed behind him, he began to question Money, about the deleterious effects of oleomargarine. "Has the senator," demanded Money, "vehemently, ever been injured by eating oleomargarine?"

"No, but my wife has," answered

Spooner in a tone of passionate regret, and Money was so surprised that he gasped.

Then Spooner took the floor, to argue against oleomargarine, and he resorted to his old trick of talking directly to Money. He was quoting legal authorities, but it sounded for all the world as if he were flaying Money. At last the Mississippian was forced up from his seat and began an interruption.

"I said nothing about the senator," said Spooner, in a pleading voice. Money smiled feebly. He knew the trick, but he could no more have kept his seat than he could have kept it if a charge of dynamite had been touched off under him. "But the senator looked at me," he said feebly, well knowing how it would look in the Record.

"If the Senator will only refrain from interrupting me," promised Spooner, "I will keep my eyes off his face, though it is hard."

One of the Ablest Senators.
These are the recreations of Spooner. When he is engaged in serious business he has no difficulty in demonstrating that he is one of the ablest men in the Senate. Hitherto he has gone unchallenged in debate. Lately a new senator, Bailey of Texas, has arisen on the Democratic side, whose skill in debate is perhaps as great as Spooner's own. Spooner never assumes his tired air when Bailey is talking, and when they clash in debate—as they often do, for the two men seek each other—each recognizes in the other a foe worthy of his steel. Several times lately the unconquered, Spooner has had to draw back after a duel with Bailey and admit that it was a drawn battle.

Frequenters of the galleries are anxiously awaiting a debate on some really great measure, when it is a moral certainty that the two giants of debate will meet and treat the country to a remarkable exhibition of tongue play that will be sharp as the click of rapiers.—C. W. Thompson in New York Times.

CARE OF THE FACE.

A Fine Skin May Be Had and Preserved by Observing Just a Few Simple Rules.

Never, under any circumstances, use hard water for washing the face. Distilled water is best, and next to this comes pure, clean rain water. If neither of these can be obtained the hard water must be softened by artificial means. The face should not be washed more often than twice a day—in the morning and just before retiring. Soap should be used at least once a day, but in cases where the skin is hypersensitive the use of soap, even of the mildest kind, causes irritation; it may be cleansed by gently rubbing in a little cold cream and washing afterward with oatmeal water, made by pouring a pint of boiling water over a dessertspoonful of oatmeal tied in a piece of muslin. Allow the water to become lukewarm before using, occasionally squeezing the muslin bag during the cooling process.

Tough towels, vigorous rubbing of the face, and, indeed, all rough friction should be avoided. A little good toilet cream should be applied after drying. Take a very little on the tips of the fingers and rub gently until the skin has absorbed the cream, then wipe the face with a soft handkerchief or towel and finally dust rice powder lightly over the surface. It is quite a mistake to imagine that powder is injurious to the skin. The dust which accumulates on the face when traveling, or even when a day is spent in crowded stores, is far more injurious to the delicate skin than a good face powder.—Detroit Free Press.

Must Take Their Hats Off.

The following notice has been placed in the entrance hall of Wurzburg university: "Honorable ladies who attend public lectures are informed that before entering the lecture room they must take off their hats. In case of noncompliance with this notice they must expect to have their hats taken away by force."

Civil War Battle Flags.

Mr. P. D. Harrison of Manchester, N. H. is compiling a history of battle flags of this country, especially of those carried in what he incidentally calls "The Brothers' Quarrel," in 1861-5. He finds that the number of flags now in the custody of Southern states is much less than those preserved by the Northern Commonwealths, but he is desirous of making a complete list of them all.

BARMAIDS IN ENGLAND.

Efforts to Suppress Them Are Now Being Made in Various Parts of the United Kingdom.

Great Britain is somewhat aroused over the threatened overthrow of one of its conspicuous and altogether distinctive institutions that have withstood the fire of vigorous opposition for several exceedingly active decades.

A plan has been formulated by which it is believed the barmaids of the inns and public drinking places will ultimately be suppressed. The movement already has been started. It has not yet been set going in London, where more than 7,000 barmaids are regularly employed, but in Glasgow active steps are now being taken to suppress the comely maids who dispense liquors to the town folk in the inns, and the movement has gained such impetus that temperance workers are confident that the issue will be flatly decided in the near future.

Supporters of the temperance cause in England for many years have chafed under the galling thought that maids behind the bars of public drinking houses were in such common and almost universal vogue. In England the temperance movement is almost if not quite as strong as it is in America. During the last few years the barmaid has been the cause of numerous skirmishes between the so-called liquor element and British blue-ribboners, yet she always has come out of each individual attack with a little more popularity added to her occupation, and as far removed from suppression as when the agitation began.

British innkeepers look upon the lassie behind the bar as a stock in trade more productive, in fact, than the liquors they sell, for it is admitted that without her much of the patronage of public houses would melt away. The barmaid is, in fact, a great drawing card for the public house. If she happens to be pretty, possessed of an attractive face and bewitching manners, she is a greater drawing card than if nature had been less liberal with her, but at any event, she is more valuable from the innkeepers' point of view than bar boys or men, and that is why each attempt of temperance workers to oust her has met with such vigorous and concerted opposition.

Now, however, it is believed by both factions that the grand climax of the years of effort on the barmaid question is near at hand. The agitation recently begun in Glasgow is regarded as the opening skirmish of a mighty struggle that has been preparing for the last two years between the temperance folk and the liquor sellers of the United Kingdom. If the movement succeeds in Scotland it is considered altogether probable that it may cross the Tweed and envelop England.

In selecting Glasgow as the place in which to launch the crusade against the barmaid, those composing the "anti" faction did not act without displaying wisdom and keen foresight. The Scots are a strongly religious people, and it is for this reason that the blue-ribboners expect to create a sufficient amount of well directed sentiment to place their cause on a substantial and effective basis. There are in Glasgow more than 1,200 barmaids, and it is believed when sufficient pressure is brought to bear on the innkeepers of the city the desired concessions can be obtained. However, the crusaders are prepared to fight if education and persuasive methods avail them nothing, and the issue may be carried to the highest court.

Great Britain is the only part of the British empire where the barmaid is an institution. There are hardly any in Ireland, and none in Australia, New Zealand, Canada or the Cape. In England there are about 120,000 barmaids, while in London alone the number reaches 7,000.

Perfumed Tablets in Vogue. Perfumed tablets are one of the many fancies. These may be propped among handkerchiefs and lace or into one's purse or pocket. They impart a dainty fragrance, which is more lasting than that given by sachet powders.

The Ability That Wins. Starting out is easy; holding on is hard. It is the latter ability that brings rewards in business and in character.

DEFENSE OF CORSETS.

Noted French Scientist Gives Some Reasons Why They Are Needed by Modern Women.

In an article on "Women's Clothing and Hygiene," contributed to the Revue Scientifique by M. Frantz Glénard, the author controverts popular ideas on the subject of the corset. He lays down the following propositions:

"1. The corset has its raison d'être from the esthetic point of view.

"2. Esthetics and hygiene may be reconciled in women's clothing, even in the corset.

"3. The corset may be of use in certain maladies."

These statements, which he acknowledges are somewhat audacious on the part of a hygienist, he attempts to justify in the course of his article. As to the first, he remarks that the adoption of clothing by man is the result neither of modesty nor of a desire to protect the body against the weather; it is a result, he asserts, wholly of a desire for adornment—themselves that leads the savage to tattoo himself. Men's costume has tended more and more to straight lines, signifying action; women's to curved lines, signifying, according to the author, that they are "made to please." "Rigidity and strength for man," he says, "suppleness and fascination for woman." The corset, then, is an attempt to preserve and accentuate the curved outline of the waist.

A HINT FROM PARIS.

Washing Blue Is Said to Remove the Unwelcome Yellow Tint from Locks Turning Gray.

Gray hair is an ordeal to the average woman under the most favorable circumstances and she probably finds in it little that is to be commended. On the other hand most women would probably not mind it so much if they were certain that all their hair would become white immediately and not remain for several years in the yellowish, mixed stage that comes to all women who have not black hair. It is the problem of getting their hair white all at once that troubles most women.

Some of the Paris hairdressers are said to be able to make the hair quite white when once it begins to turn. The process is expensive under any circumstances.

A remedy has been found which has been successful in the case of most of the women who have tried it. It is not expensive, for the process consists in giving the hair a bath of washing blue.

The blue must not be too strong but must be liberally mixed with water. If one bath does not have the effect of taking all the yellow out of the hair, the operation should be repeated.

In a day or two after the bath of blue has been given the yellow will begin to fade from the hair and in a short time it will be quite white.—N. Y. Sun.

HAS LITERARY FEVER.

Sophia, Future Queen of the Hellenes, Is Anxious to Make Her Mark as an Author.

Kaiser Wilhelm has a younger sister, Sophia, who married Constantine, crown prince of Greece. The two now have an interesting family. There are two sons and a daughter, and the household is a happy one.

Sophia's mother was Empress Frederick and her grandmother was

SOPHIA, CROWN PRINCESS OF GREECE.

Queen Victoria. She is, therefore, a niece of King Edward and as much English as German. But she loves Greece, and in the palace of the king of Greece, her father-in-law, she is thoroughly at home. She likes the beautiful Queen Olga, her mother-in-law, and has shared with her many public triumphs.

All the grandchildren of Queen Victoria have literary aspirations, and Crown Princess Sophia is no exception. She has written a little and done it very well. And now she longs to appear more extensively in public literature. She has undertaken the writing of a book. Just when it will be done no one knows, not even the crown princess herself. But the fact that she is writing it makes her interesting. "She longs to join the ranks of studious queens and be known as Sophia the literary," says a court lady.

O'DEA SATISFIED WITH HIS CREWS

Badger Coach Says They Rowed Good Races at Poughkeepsie Though Beaten.

Madison, Wis., June 25.—Coach Andy O'Dea, Captain Stevenson of the 'Varsity crew and Jordan of the 'Varsity crew arrived home from Poughkeepsie last night. The remainder of the Wisconsin party was left at Chicago, each man going direct to his home.

Coach O'Dea said that on the whole he was satisfied with the showing the two crews made in the big regatta last Saturday. If it had not been for the deteriorating effect of the long trip from Wisconsin to the Hudson the coach thinks that the Badgers would have won both races. He believes that the only way for the Badgers to win is to go to Poughkeepsie earlier than usual, in order to become accustomed to the course and to fully recover from the strain of the trip before the day of the race.

The coach said that on the day of their race the condition of the freshmen was inferior to what it was when they left Madison. The condition of the men in the 'Varsity shell, the coach said, was poor when they arrived at Poughkeepsie, but was nearly normal on the Thursday preceding the race. If he had three days more to devote to training, he thinks that he would have been able to have both crews, especially the 'Varsity in winning form. Coach O'Dea says that the prospects are good for a strong 'Varsity crew next year. All of the old men, except Gaffin and Steere, are expected to be back.

"We rowed a good race," said Captain Stevenson, "but Cornell's almost perfect crew was too much for us. The men all went into the race with the expectation of winning, and it started with Wisconsin slightly in the lead. This advantage was retained throughout the race, and Wisconsin was never headed by any crew with the exception of Cornell, which overtook us at the mile mark and finally won out."

"Throughout the four miles McComb stroked a great race and at no time was the stroke above thirty-four."

The racing shells arrived in a special car last night and will be unloaded today.

ENTERTAINED FOR HER DAUGHTERS

Mrs. H. F. Keller Gives a Pretty Party for Friends of Misses Irma-gard and Robena.

About seventy-five young people were the delighted guests of Mrs. H. F. Keller at the St. Ann's Golf club house last evening when Mrs. Keller entertained for her daughters, Misses Irma-gard and Robena Keller. The nature of the occasion was a dancing party that formed entertainment which gay-hearted, light-footed young people most enjoy and the party of last evening was certainly one of the merriest ever held in the city.

The picturesque club house had been made even more attractive than usual by an artistic use of effective decorations. The deep fireplace and mantle were banked with garden roses, black-eyed Susans and feathery grasses and potted palms and ferns stood in the corners of the dance hall. The broad porch was illuminated with Chinese lanterns.

The youthful guests were received graciously by Mrs. Keller and her daughters and the entire evening was devoted to dancing. Roy Carter, the talented pianist, furnished some excellent music. A frappe bowl, at which Miss Belle Strauser presided prettily was a popular resort between dances.

About ten o'clock delicious refreshments, consisting of ice cream, wafers, fancy cakes and confections, were served. Both in the serving of the refreshments and in the entertainment of her guests, Mrs. Keller was charmingly assisted by Messrs. and Mesdames M. G. Jeffris, W. S. Jeffris, George M. McKey and N. L. Carle. Mrs. Harriet Jeffris and Misses Sue Jeffris and Josephine and Josephine Carle.

The happy evening came to a close about midnight when goodnights were said and the guests found carriages waiting to convey them to their homes.
